CONG. JAMES M. COX WARMLY GREETED AT THE LICKING FAIR

Given Great Ovation by the Thousands of Visitors in Attendance at Agriculture Exhibition
Thursday

SPOKE FROM AUTO IN FRONT OF GRAND STAND

Night Meeting Held at the High School Auditorium, Cong. Cox and Ex-Cong. Wood of New York Making Eloquent Addresses — Nice Compliment
Paid to Newark's Old Guard — Cheers for Cong. W. A. Ashbrook.

As a gauge for the temperature of political preference, Thursday afternoon at the county fair was a huge success from the Democratic standpoint, for it showed conclusively that, as far as Licking county is concerned, the Hon. Jim Cox might as well commence to get ready for the occupancy of the governor's chair. Fully three thousand persons heard Mr. Cox in a brief but ringing announcement of his principles, and the applause that followed was absolutely thunderous. The evening meeting at the High School Auditorium was not as successful as it should have been, in point of numbers, but those who were fortunate enough to hear Mr. Cox and the Hon. Fred D. Wood of New York City in strong Democratic speeches are confident that the United States has had at least two men of brains and the ability to use them in the halls of Congress.

The visitors arrived in Newark from Columbus shortly after noon and were escorted to the fair grounds by members of the Republican and Democratic central committees, the former being present to welcome the representative of the Republican candidate for governor, General R. B. Brown, Hon. Freeman T. Eagleson, candidate for attorney general of the state on the Republican ticket. Members of the Republican reception committee were John Ankele, chairman; Colonel Kibler, W. A. Lovett, V. H. Mazey, R. A. Bigbee, Warren S. Weiant, Frank D. Hall, George H. Hamilton, George Heisey, W. C. Miller, Charles L. H. Long, Carl Norpell, and A. R. Lindorf.

The Democratic candidates were met by Congressman W. A. Ashbrook, Roderick Jones, John Mohlenpach, Frank T. Mercer, George D. Orr, W. J. Reese, and C. H. Spencer, who accompanied the visitors to the fair grounds in automobiles. At the fair ground, the party was met by "Vic Donaher," Democratic candidate for state auditor. Mr. Donaher is the man with nine good reasons for his election, ranging in age from a few months to eighteen years of age, and is such a red-blooded, white-spirited citizen that "Governor" Cox last night declared his belief that "Vic" could produce nine more reasons if the people insisted on them. Donaher's record in official life has been unquestioned, he is a man with a strong sense of his duty to the people and is being conceded election in all parts of the state.

Cheers for Ashbrook.
Ex-Mayor John M. Ankele introduced the Republican representative, Freeman T. Eagleson, to the vast crowd in the fair grounds grandstand, immediately after the fourth heat in the racing program.

BOY THREW CAYENNE PEPPER IN EYES OF GIRL SCHOOL MATE

A wide white bandage about her head and tears trickling down her cheeks which were inflamed and swollen, Nellie George, the eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. George of 101 Madison avenue, told between sobs the story to an Advocate representative of how one of her schoolmates, Ananias Anderson, had thrown cayenne pepper in her eyes and face.

Nellie was lying in a big chair filled with pillows in a darkened room and sobbingly told how with several girl companions she had been on her way Friday morning about 8 o'clock to attend school at the Mill street building. Laughing and jesting the merry Standing in an automobile in the center of the track, Mr. Eagleson discussed briefly the career of General Brown as a soldier and asked for the votes of the people for him. He discussed the wool tariff, and referred quite freely to the "free trade" bugaboo. His talk met with but very little applause, the crowd taking up the shout of "Hurrah for Jim Cox," and "Hurrah for Ashbrook," as soon as Mr. Eagleson had resumed his seat.

Congressman Ashbrook's speech of introduction was very apropos, offering to the people the man who on the 5th day of November would be granted the first "premium" in the gubernatorial stakes.

The governor's response was equally interesting, interspersed with the humor that has made him popular as a speaker and the fineness of political appreciation that has made his name a powerful one in legislative annals. He referred to his modesty at the Democratic convention, when he was the only one who asked that his name be put on the ticket as a candidate for governor, "like one sporadic Democratic instance of Democratic modesty, self denial and patriotism."

"There were so many Republicans in Ohio who wanted to be governor," he added, "that they split up the ticket and made half a dozen chances in order to have the honors go around."

The speaker then thanked the "Old Guard" for the splendid reception they had prepared for the visiting candidates, and bespoke his gratitude for their heroism of the past and the part they had played in the development of the generation, and the heritage they leave to the generations that follow them.

Praise for W. J. Bryan.
Claiming that "those who are reviling him and calling him names 16 years ago are now singing words of praise into his ear, but at the same time are trying to steal his policies and pick his pockets," the governor paid a splendid tribute to the Democracy of William Jennings Bryan. "As marked a piece of political larceny as that is, I am sorry that Mr. Eagleson today offended St. Peter, who is marking down our sins of commission. He did not try to rob God Almighty, who gave us the abundant crops this year."

"The consumers of Licking county are being assessed beyond precedent over what they were," continued the speaker. "I ask the farmers of Licking county whether you are being paid in proportion to the services which you give to the consumer or whether the most of it is going to the woolen trust down east," he pointedly added during his consideration of the wool schedules.

"I am here today in the cause of a militant democracy," concluded the speaker. "It is standing soundly." (Continued on Page 4, Col. 2.)

EXPENSIVE FREIGHT WRECK ON THE B. & O. AT MT. VERNON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Freight business on the Lake Erie Division of the Baltimore and Ohio got into a disastrous tangle at Mt. Vernon at 4:40 Thursday afternoon. Tracks were torn up, equipment damaged and freight ruined by fire and wrecking crews were sent scurrying from all directions before the badly involved condition could be righted.

Train No. 24, in charge of Conductor Darby of this city made up of two engines and carrying 65 cars of grain, meat and other perishable freight, took the siding in the north end of the Mt. Vernon yards for order. Immediately following this the southbound local took the siding beside No. 24.

Sharply following the two trains came No. 94, a train with two engines and 61 cars of Q. D. freight, in charge of Conductor O'Connor.

On No. 24 one engine headed the train and the other ran at the rear, just ahead of the caboose. In taking the siding, the rear engine and the caboose of No. 24 failed to clear and the head engine of No. 94 plowed into the rear of the other train. It struck the freight car, crushing it as though it were an egg shell, climbed clear over the engine ahead of the caboose and had sufficient impetus to wreck six cars, ruining a quantity of freight. A new fireman, whose name it has been impossible to learn, saw the impending danger when the moving train bore down upon the one that was on the siding and jumped. He suffered several bruises and a lacerated face.

Shortly after the crash fire broke out in the wreckage of train No. 24, but after some difficulty it was extinguished by the Mt. Vernon fire department. Almost before the flames in this wreckage were subdued, fire broke out afresh, this time in the rear of No. 94, but these flames were more easily quenched.

Wrecking crews were called at once from the nearby points, and after some hours righted the trouble. Several trains had to be detoured to get past the track torn up in the collision.

FIRST DAY'S REGISTRATION IS CONSIDERED VERY GOOD

Fifteen hundred Newark voters, about one-fifth of the total voting strength of the city, took advantage of the opportunity to register their names at the various voting precincts Thursday. It was a fair registration for the first day.

The heaviest registration was in Precinct E of the Fourth ward. The registrars in this precinct took the names of 94 voters probably half the voting strength of the precinct.

Precinct C of the First ward was next with 84 and E of the First was next with 75. The smallest registration was in B of the Third with 28. Several others had from 30 to 40, while most of the precincts registered from 45 to 65 voters.

The next registration will be on Thursday, October 10, from a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 4 to 9 p. m.

where Dr. Downs was called.

Sweet oil was poured in the eyes and later in the morning had greatly alleviated the pain. But the eyes still burned and her face was inflamed and swollen while the nostrils were also badly burned where she had inhaled the powder.

The young Anderson lad was taken in charge by Probation Officer James Sheridan and his case will probably be heard in the Juvenile court Saturday.

Miss Grace Powell will sing at all services.

With nearly three thousand persons in the big tabernacle last night, Dr. Lyon delivered one of the strongest sermons of his campaign, "The Great Essential," and brought scores to a conviction that they should live the Christian life. At the close of his meeting, Dr. Lyon asked those who wanted to be Christians but who had neglected the great transformation, to raise their hands, and a more promising sight has never been witnessed in this city. There were many men and women with their hair tinged with gray who signified their willingness to take a new stand in life, and there were youths and maids in the glowing years of life who showed by their raised hands that they, too, wished to follow the path of the Master. Dr. Lyon did not hold an after meeting last night, as on Wednesday evening, but those who wish to definitely profess their faith will no doubt be given an opportunity at tonight's service, when Dr. Lyon will preach on "The Wages of Sin."

The opening song service was very impressive, one of its strong features being the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by four old Civil War veterans in various parts of the house. "Mine eyes have seen the Glory" never contained any more of solemn truth as these heroes raised their hearts and voices in the great hymn of praise. The children found their usual delight in singing the choruses with the big choir and did splendid work. The favorites for the evening were "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," "America," "Oh, How You'll Love Him" and "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." Mrs. Grace Powell's solo offering for the evening was "Ye Must Be Born Again," and was indeed splendidly rendered.

The plea for larger offerings was couched in Dr. Lyon's usual humorous strain. "Some people think that the name of this building should be pronounced 'tabernacle.'" The people clapped their hands for several seconds in appreciation of the joke, and Dr. Lyon's retorted by saying, "That's right. Clap your hands, but clap them down into your pockets."

Dr. Lyon's introductory remarks were directed largely against the street carnival. He scored the disreputable show in front of the Episcopal church and called it a "shame to the city."

"Public officers who allowed that thing to continue should resign from their places."

"I'm going to touch on a lot of these things in the Sunday afternoon men's meeting," said Dr. Lyon. "I'm going to take the hide off of a lot of you men and rub salt in. Not that I don't love you. I can't hate anybody. I even love a saloon-keeper as far as the man is concerned, but I say to hell with his business, and I'm going to hit somebody pretty hard on Sunday."

Dr. Lyon said in part: "During the Napoleonic wars there met one midnight, on a raft in the middle of the German river, the emperors of France and Russia for conference, the result of which changed the map of Europe. But centuries before there was a far greater conference. It was between Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews and Jesus Christ, the son of God. The result of this conference has changed the fate of countless thousands of human souls."

"It was no mere accident that such a man that Christ spoke these significant words: 'Ye must be born again.' This was a man of wealth and culture, and above all of uprightness of character, a man perhaps the peer of any of us. But here is the truth I want to impress, that if such a man needed the new birth before he could even see the kingdom of heaven, so do you and I need the new birth."

"Before we go on to consider what regeneration is, it may be well to consider what it is not. In the first place it is not merely reformation. That is a re-forming, a re-shaping of what you already possess, but regeneration is bringing in a new power that you did not previously have. Again regeneration is not simply culture. No amount of cultivation will change a bass wood into an apple tree. You can grow in grace when you are spiritually born, but you cannot grow into grace before. Before there can be culture of the higher life, you must have a spiritual nature to cultivate. Birth must precede growth, fruitage and maturity."

"Furthermore, being born of the Spirit is not simply joining the church as naturally as a duck takes to water, yet you might join every religion organization on earth and yet be lost. Becoming a Christian consists in joining Jesus, in entering into vital relationship with the Source of Life."

"There are many things important that are not essential. Education, money, influence, good friends are all important, yet they are not indispensable. But there is one thing an absolute necessity—life. Salvation is not merely a matter of good or bad or of good or better; it is a matter of life or death."

"Being born from above is necessary both for salvation and for service. If you are born but once you will die twice, but if you are born twice you will die but once. The first birth is of the flesh, the second is of the spirit."

"To the worldly life you are born, but to the heavenly life you are born again. And you cannot be of any practical help to others until you are yourself right with God. Many celebrate their physical birthdays that never think about their spiritual birthdays. Have you ever had a spiritual birthday? If not, have one tonight."

"But, says someone, explain to me the second birth. I reply, explain to me the first birth. The whole subject of life from first to last is a mystery. Regeneration is something that cannot be explained; it must be experienced. The laws of the spirit are just as definite as the laws of the material universe. There are two conditions essential to regeneration—first is repentance toward sin; and second, is the definite acceptance of Christ."

"Regeneration is God's part; our part is obedience to His Son. If you are willing to cut loose from whatever He shows you as wrong and will yield yourself to Christ as your personal Savior and Lord, then God, for Christ's sake, will receive you and you will be naturalized for citizenship in the eternal kingdom. If you are not going toward God; you are going away from Him. Nothing is gained by delaying this essential step, and everything is being lost. Begin the relationship with Jesus now."

"The coming of the Spirit into the life of a man he depicted with a tale strangely appropriate and particularly beautiful."

"A wealthy man who had vast estates and was developing them in attractive fashion sought to lure the nightingales to a wood near his home. He studied the habits of these wood- and songsters, their likes and their dislikes, their foes and their friends. Then he worked lovingly and carefully to prepare the wood so that it would be a favored home for the midnight warblers. He did not have to wait long after the work of preparation was done. One evening at early twilight he heard the sweet, caroling note of the first nightingale. Soon thereafter came other feathered melodists and the wood became known as the Forest of the Nightingales."

"Man's religion is really his education," continued Dr. Lyon. "That is the religion of Jesus Christ. A man needs something that he has not had before—a new life."

"Religion never saved anyone; it is only through the gospel of Jesus Christ (Continued on Page 2.—Column 3)

HOT WEATHER IS QUICK TO AFFECT THE BOWELS
Well-Known Fact That Extreme Heat Conduces to Chronic Constipation.
The disposition to eat cold food and indulge in iced drinks is one reason why constipation and diarrhoea is so prevalent in summer, and there is no time when people should more carefully avoid bowel disturbances, as much serious disease is directly traceable to these conditions. We need all of our strength to withstand the enervating effect of heat.
To regulate the bowels and quickly relieve even the most aggravated case of constipation, the combination of simple laxative herbs, the best known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended by all who have ever used it. Unlike cathartics and violent purgatives, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently on the stomach, liver and bowels, without griping or other discomfort, bringing relief in an easy, natural manner. It can be used with perfect safety by the most delicate woman or child, and yet is equally effective for the strongest constitutions. Mild, pleasant to take, and inexpensive, it is the ideal family laxative. By cleansing the bowel tract thoroughly and eliminating the foreign matter and poisons that irritate and inflame, it will quickly check summer diarrhoea and restore normal conditions.
Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle — a larger, family size costs one dollar. Get a bottle and keep it in the house: it will save many times its cost in doctor bills. A free trial bottle, postpaid, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

TABERNACLE
that men are saved. Don't have a teacher in your Sunday school who is not a Christian. You can't give to somebody else something that you haven't yourself.
"You can grow in grace but you cannot grow into grace, friends," the speaker added. "Regeneration is not simply going to church. Don't be like the young Chicago fellow who was asked why he did not belong to a church, and replied, 'I'm waiting for a good chance.'"
"Going to church does not make a Christian of you any more than going to a stable makes a horse of you, or to a garage makes you an automobile."
Dr. Lyon told of the famous sculptor who spent years making a statue of physical perfection. At last it was finished, and he called a friend to criticize it.
"Isn't that perfect?" the sculptor asked?
"No, it isn't," replied the friend. "It lacks life."
"Friends," the evangelist continued, "there is no immortality worthy of the name but that of Jesus Christ. Do you know that all the men in Newark could be saved in four months if all the wives would wake up to the fact that their husbands are spiritually dead?" asked the speaker. "Regeneration cannot be explained, it must be experienced."
"Don't be like the little girl who came home late from church and explained that she had stayed to class-meeting."
"What did you do there?" asked the mother, and the child answered:
"Oh, I did just like the rest. When my turn came I got up and said, 'have been a serving the Lord for forty years and hope to do so for the rest of my life.'"
Dr. Lyon declared that he had some hope for the regeneration of the man who would get angry at a sermon. "It's those weak, jelly-fish, spineless sinners who are afraid to come forward and confess Christ that I have to work the hardest with."
"Remember, regeneration is just as much of an act as matrimony. A religion that you can get without knowing it, you are going to lose it without knowing it. You do what you think a Christian ought to do and it won't be long before you will discover that you are a Christian."

Afternoon Service.
"If ever the men of any city were skinned, I'll skin the men of Newark next Sunday," cried Dr. Lyon in the course of the afternoon meeting. Taking as his text portions of the twenty-eighth and thirty-fifth chapters of Genesis, the evangelist applied himself to the task of bringing to the hearers of his auditors a realization of the likeness between the life of Jacob and that of many a modern.
Preceding the sermon a spirited song service was conducted by Director Mitchell and the Rev. W. D. Ward reported a growing interest in the fifty district prayer meetings.
At the conclusion of the song service the Rev. J. A. Bennett invoked the Divine blessing and Dr. Lyon assumed the pulpit, launching at once into a spirited discussion of the life and vicissitudes of Jacob, "the storm tossed."

Bringing his parallels close to the lives of his hearers, showing Jacob to have been but the type of many moderns and admonishing each of his auditors of the need of "a Bethel experience," the earnest divine leaped pride, prejudice and convention and hurled scathing shafts of ridicule against the pose of the world in general and Newark in particular.
Startled into surprise and then bound by the hands of a compelling attention the audience hung upon the words of Dr. Lyon with eagerness and frequently applauded a telling blow.
Dr. Lyon said in part:
The life and character of Jacob constantly appeals to us with fresh and increasing interest. I suppose it is because Jacob was so intensely

She Had Consumption, Was Dying; Now Well
Eckman's Alternative is being used with success in the treatment of Tuberculosis in all parts of the country. Persons who have been long ill, improved, gained weight, exhausting night sweats stopped, fever, diminished, and many recovered. If you are interested to know more about it, we will put you in touch with some who are now well. You can investigate and judge for yourself. Read of Mrs. Gove's recovery.
"Gentlemen: Thinking that perhaps a short history of the remarkable recovery of my mother-in-law (Mrs. Anna Gove) might benefit some other sufferers, I give the following testimonial: About September 30, 1908, she was taken sick with Catarrhal Pneumonia, and continued to grow worse, requiring a trained nurse. Night sweats were so bad that it was necessary to change her clothing once or twice every night; her cough increased and got so bad that everybody expected that she would not live much longer. In January, when Rev. Wm. Berg, of St. Michael's Church at Shreveville, Ind., prepared for her death, he recommended that I get Eckman's Alternative, and see if it would not give her some relief. I then requested the attending physician to give his diagnosis and he informed me that she had Consumption and was beyond all medical aid. When I asked if he thought that I was useless to try the Alternative, he replied that 'No physician could help her any and I could not quit myself about it.' So I immediately had Rev. Wm. Berg to send for a bottle. Practically without hope for recovery, I insisted that she try the Alternative, which she did. I am glad to say that she soon began to improve. Now, she works as hard as ever, weighs twenty pounds heavier than she ever did before she took it, and is in good health. She frankly says she owes her life and health to Eckman's Alternative."
(Sworn Affidavit.)
Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Trouble, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of testimonials and write to Eckman's Alternative, Philadelphia, Pa. for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists in Newark.

CRITICISM OF ALICE COON BROWN
"Louisiana Lou," which appears at the Auditorium theatre in this city tonight, played last night at the Hartman theatre in Columbus, and Alice Coon Brown, dramatic critic of the Ohio State Journal, had this in part to say of the attraction in her criticism in this morning's paper:
"Louisiana Lou" might, without doubt, have stayed here for several performances without wearing out its welcome; and everyone who saw this pretty musical comedy at the Hartman last evening regretted only its immediate departure. The theatre was completely filled for the one performance given here, and every one was pleasantly entertained by the pretty music, much of it of an unusually delicate order, the gay colors of the Mardi Gras costumes, and the laughable comedy of a very good cast of principals. A pretty story, embellished by some very clever comedy, wanders through the musical vagaries of the piece, and the principals are interpreting the comedy well.
Particularly is this true of Barney Bernard, a Hebrew comedian, who has never appeared here to so good advantage as in this part, in which he has a chance to display some unusual powers of acting. Mr. Bernard avoids all of the stupidities often to be found in this line of comedy, and makes his Jewish type intensely human and likable. He even succeeds in holding his audience while he goes to sleep on the stage, an unusual achievement.
One of the most interesting personalities in the company is Sophie Tucker, the ragtime singer, of whom we have all heard. She is reminiscent of both May Irwin and Trixie Friganza, having a very hearty sort of way with her, which is like both ladies.
Eleanor Henry comes the nearest being a singer of anyone in the company, and she is rather breathless, but she is delightfully attractive. So is Bessie De Vole, who plays the title role charmingly. Miss De Vole, who is very pretty, looks and talks startlingly like Jane Gray. She is a very good dancer.
Lester Crawford, another good dancer, and Burrill Barbaretto, two attractive young men, grace the cast; and smaller parts are well taken.

Power of Radium.
Suppose that the energy of a ton of radium could be utilized in 30 years, instead of being evolved at its invariable slow rate of 1,750 years for half disintegration, it would suffice to propel a ship of 15,000 tons, with engines of 15,000 horsepower, at the rate of 15 knots an hour for 30 years—practically the lifetime of the ship. To do this actually requires one and one-half million tons of coal.—New York World.

SOCIETY

HUFF-MILLER.

Hundreds of American Beauty roses added to the beauty of the wedding of Miss Corinne Miller, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Miller, to Mr. Lee R. Huff of Louisville, Ky., on Thursday evening at the Second Presbyterian church.

Amid the soft glow of numerous candles was placed a profusion of palms and ferns which banked the altar. Large clusters of American Beauties surmounted the bank of greenery and served to heighten the color effect of red and white. At eight o'clock the organist, Miss Florence King, played the first measures of the Lohengrin wedding march and the bride party formed in the vestibule of the church. The two tiny ribbon bearers, Martha Grace and Virginia Miller stretched the large white satin ribbons which formed the aisle for the party. The ushers were Walter Brown, George D. Upson, David Zollars of Canton, and Karl Babb of Xenia and the bride was attended by four bridesmaids, Miss Annette Besuden, Miss Hazel Altshool, Miss Anne Sprague, and Miss Frances Courtier of Pataskala. Miss Gypsy Huff, a sister of the groom from Louisville, Ky., was maid of honor. The ring bearer was little Alice Miller who carried the wedding ring in the center of an American Beauty rose. The groom was attended by his best man, Mr. Elbert Babb of Xenia, a fraternity brother of the groom.

The bride was prettily charming in a gown of heavy soft white satin, entraine, trimmed with duchesse lace and pearl ornaments. She wore a full length veil caught with pearls and orange blossoms, and her bouquet was a shayer creation of lilies of the valley and bride's roses. The ribbon bearers and the ring bearer wore white lingerie dresses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of white crepe meteor with American Beauty sashes and carried American Beauty roses. Miss Huff was costumed in white charmeuse with lace trimmings and she also carried the favored flower. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. C. W. Miller.

The beautiful and impressive ring service of the Second Presbyterian church was read by Prof. C. L. Williams of Denison University.

Following the church service a reception was held in Assembly Hall which was attended by about three hundred guests. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller, Miss Gypsy Huff, Mr. Elbert Babb, Misses Annette Besuden, Hazel Altshool, Anne Sprague, Frances Courtier, Messrs. George D. Upson, Walter Brown, David Zollars and Karl Babb. The gown of Mrs. Miller, mother of the bride, was of white with a chiffon overdress of blue, and trimmed with cut steel.

There were no decorations in the ball room, but in the balcony where the wedding dinner was served the arrangements were in red and white. Centerpieces of American Beauty roses graced the tables and the place cards were miniature brides and grooms while the favors were tiny baskets with lilies of the valley. Seated at this table were the members of the bride party and Miss Juliet Besuden and Roderic Miller.

A ball followed the reception and Marsh's orchestra furnished a delightful dance program.

Mr. and Mrs. Huff left for a trip, the bride's going away gown being of Science Understands the Stomach

Treating Indigestion With Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets is an Exact Science. They Give Quick Relief.

Medicinal men have learned more about the stomach than perhaps any other vital organ. They have discovered why the stomach rebels at certain conditions—what causes the formation of gases—what causes flatulency, heartburn, dyspepsia, burning sensation, brash, and all the other disorders of the stomach.

They have gone further. They have found remedies for all these afflictions, these results of improper digestion. They have learned that peptic, hydrochloric acid and fruit salts are powerful digestants that relieve quickly and surely all the troubles to which the stomach is subject. They have discovered that one grain of these properties will digest 3,000 grains of food.

Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a medicine. They are a scientific compound that supplies the stomach with the digestive agents which it is itself unable to provide. When your stomach is sick and not working right—when it fails to give out enough of the digestive juices to properly take care of the food you eat, these tablets will make up the deficiency. You will have no indigestion. Your food will digest thoroughly.

You never can tell when your stomach is going back on you. It gives no warning. If you eat a big meal, if you eat hurriedly, take one of these little tablets. You will avoid a lot of pain and misery.

Some of the most prominent men carry these tablets in their vest pockets when they attend banquets, etc., and never fail to take them.

Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 50c a box.

blue serge with a hat of the same tone. The bride is a young woman of charming personality and has been one of the favorites of the younger social set. She graduated from Newark High school in 1910, and has given much time to the study of music. The groom was formerly a student at Denison University and is a Phi Gamma Delta fraternity man. He is located in Louisville, Ky., where he is in the employ of the Brader-Gheins candy manufacturing company.

Some charming gifts were exchanged, the bride giving her attendants bracelets, while the groom gave the ushers and his best man brushes in leather cases.

Mr. and Mrs. Huff will be at home in Louisville.

"Doing is the Great Thing"

The Suit and Overcoat Question is Answered Decisively and Right---Here

Quality comes first here whether the clothing we sell costs little or much. It is a prime consideration in determining if a man's confidence is to be won and held or trifled with and lost. No logical argument exists that will sway us from the firm stand we took when this business was started, namely, to give quality that could not be bettered for the asking price.

No man can come into this store without going out knowing that we've given him the exact facts about quality and workmanship in the suit or overcoat that has caught his fancy. His questions shall be answered decisively—there'll be no beating about the bush to twist the truth. We're here to do business above board or else go over board. The styles talk decisively—though mutely—for themselves. If you want style that wins and quality that counts we shall be glad to serve you with the best there is at the three fair prices quoted below:

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Substitutions in Drugs.
Representatives of reputable drug importing firms are conducting an investigation into the substitution of inferior drugs by careless or unscrupulous druggists. According to Herman A. Metz, former comptroller of New York city, who is a drug importer, many drugs are sold in packages that counterfeit the labels of the genuine articles. Heart stimulants are sold without any makers' guarantee as to their strength or weakness, and many druggists actually do not know what they are selling. Under a new section of the New York penal code it is a misdemeanor for a druggist to have fraudulent drugs in his possession, no matter whether or not he offers them for sale. The penalty is a fifty dollar fine for the first offense and imprisonment for the second. Moral of the foregoing: Patronize only honest druggists.

Walnut Tree as Bell Tower.
A church will hang on a walnut tree at Thetford, England, which for 40 years had summoned the villagers to divine service, has been taken down and now forms part of a bell in the newly erected tower of the church. When the present church was erected a tower could not be built owing to lack of funds and a bell from the old church was hung on the walnut tree, which is near the church.

BUSINESS FAILURES AND LIABILITIES

Just now Republican leaders are attempting to frighten people into voting their ticket with the hypocritical pretense that we cannot have prosperity unless we have a Republican administration.

They seem to forget that we have had more failures and the total liabilities have been more since 1907 than at any time in the history of our government for the same length of time. For instance, the liabilities have been as follows:

1907	$197,385,225.00
1908	222,315,684.00
1909	154,603,465.00
1910	201,757,097.00
1911	191,061,665.00

The total amount of failures for the first eight months of 1912 is $124,110,683.00 and at the present rate will run over two hundred million dollars this year. In 1894, the commercial failures amounted to $187,992,836.00; in 1895, $173,196,000.00. The people remember that during the administrations of Roosevelt and Taft that we have had one of the greatest panics in the history of the country.

There is at present a greatly improved outlook for business prosperity, but in addition to the effect of abundant crops, the improved business prospect comes with the assurance that Woodrow Wilson is certain to be elected President.

shoulder, cohesive in action, and not submitting to you a number of exhibits as to what the Democratic party has done in the past. They have laid down their platform as to what they are going to do in the future.

One of the Folks.
"When I get there, come up, all of you. I'm your kind of folks, and you are my kind of folks. There shall be two hatch-strings out for the people of Licking county. Come up and put your feet on the table and we will discuss pumpkins and the good folks down in Licking county."

Mr. Cox was given a tremendous ovation as he left the fair grounds, the crowds along the driveway cheering him as he passed and shouting, "Hello, Jim, how's the governor!" The absolute democracy of the man was never more apparent than in his treatment of the crowd Thursday. He was "one of the boys," ready to grasp the hand of the hardest working farmer of the county, willing to discuss anything from crop to national issues—in short, he made a tremendous impression and one that will be remarkable in its effect when the votes are being counted.

The greatest fair in the history of Licking county will be brought to a close this evening with the finishing of the race program. The fair of 1912 occurred under the most auspicious circumstances, the weather being pleasant throughout the week and the co-operation of the agricultural board with the Newark Business Men's association resulting in one of the most thorough advertising campaigns which has probably ever occurred in the state, bringing thousands of additional visitors to the city as well as to the agricultural grounds. The big attraction of course is the airship, a Wright biplane, with Aviator Archie Freeman at the driving rod. The publicity given the airship flights has brought additional shooks into the coffers of the society and has proven that splendid judgment was used in securing the attraction. The race program was one of the best ever given at a county fair and this was evidenced by the large list of entries in each day's program. Scarcely such excellent sport been witnessed on any half mile track in the state. Thursday's ten thousand people on the grounds was a good natured crowd and they spent their money freely in visiting the different shows and patronizing the many concessions. The privilege men are more than satisfied and all unite in stating that the Licking county fair was one of the best that they have visited this year, and all will return for next year's exhibition. Aviator Freeman made four flights Thursday, all in the afternoon as he did not feel like taking the risk of a morning flight on account of bad air currents. The first flight of the day was made at 4 o'clock when he circled over the fair grounds four times and made a thrilling volplane from about 600 feet to alight in the aviation field. The second flight was a hair-raiser, Archie going to a height of 1,000 feet from which distance he would make graceful dips and then rise in the air again. He also flew over the fair grounds at least a half dozen times and on two occasions flew directly over the race judge's stand. On the third trip Mr. Freeman carried a passenger, Clarence Keller of this city. Mr. Keller stated that he was delighted with the experience and ready to try it again. On the fourth trip the aviator was accompanied by his wife and she stated that she expects to make many flights with her husband in the future and that she will learn to operate the airship and after she becomes thoroughly experienced she expects to apply for a flyer's license.

ARCHIE FREEMAN FLIES OVER CITY

Housewives in their homes and business men in their Newark offices had an opportunity of seeing Aviator Archie Freeman make one of his sensational flights over Newark shortly after eight o'clock this morning, and for nearly fifteen minutes necks were craned and eyes kept staring into the sky as the "bird man" maneuvered some 2,500 feet in the air. Mr. J. S. Berger, manager of the local exhibition of the Wright machine, telephoned to the Advocate office shortly after 7 o'clock this morning that a flight would be made over the city by Archie Freeman. The Advocate, with its usual enterprise, had a number of bulletins posted in conspicuous parts of the downtown district, with the result that as soon as the aviating whirr of the propellers of the biplane was heard, there was a sudden flocking of the people to roofs, office windows, front doors and even out into the streets. The flight was one of the most attractive that Freeman has made in Newark. The atmospheric conditions were proper for good work and the big machine glided gracefully around the court house tower swept out into the northern part of the city then cut diagonally across the city to the fair grounds, making a dip of nearly five hundred feet just as it passed over the downtown district. Mr. Freeman and his manager visited the Advocate editorial offices half an hour after the flight was concluded and expressed their personal appreciation of the courtesies that have been shown them in Newark. "The Advocate is surely a live newspaper," said Mr. Berger. "They have treated us 'white' all through our trip here, and I'm glad I was able to have Mr. Freeman take up a special representative from the paper as the first Newark passenger." Mr. Freeman expressed his belief that the flights this afternoon would be of a more sensational nature than he had ever attempted. He experienced no difficulty during this morning's flight, although, in spite of wearing an overcoat, he reported that the temperature of the air half a mile up is about ten degrees colder. "I could see the town splendidly. There was hardly a building in the downtown district that didn't have a lot of people standing on the roof. The streets looked very interesting—quite busy until I got over the downtown district, and then everything seemed to stop and commence looking up at the machine." The aviator also remarked on the vast number of birds that were scared from their nests in the court house tower by the noise of his machine. "They looked like a lot of chippies," he remarked. "It's funny the way birds act when someone gets up into the territory they have always considered theirs by divine right." The flights this afternoon at the fair ground will be made between 3 and 5 o'clock, and it is possible that an

THURSDAY'S RACES.

There were four races on the afternoon's program, a 2:30 pace, a 2:15 trot, a 2:20 pace and a 2:24 trot, $300 purses being hung up for each race. The first race had a field of ten starters, but only one horse was distanced. Ned F won the first heat and Casey Jones the next three. There were ten starters in the 2:15 trot, probably the classic bunch of horses for the class that has ever appeared on any half mile track in the country. Vanko, owned by John H. Swisher of this city, was the favorite, winning second money, finishing second, third and second. Robert Jones took three straight heats, the fastest being stepped off in 2:18 1/4. The third race, the 2:20 pace, was a fine exhibition of driving, the eight horses being well bunched at all times. The race was won in straight heats by Martha F., owned by J. F. Flanagan of this city. The fast little sorrel mare proved her worth by nosing out Billy O'Conner, a great favorite in this city. The fourth race on the program was the 2:24 trot and only two heats were finished, the race going over to today on account of darkness. Fountain B. had no trouble in capturing both heats. The only mishap of the afternoon occurred in the 2:15 trot, when one of the horses swerved where the track was a little soft and went into The Diammo, knocking Driver George Meator from the sulky, breaking his right leg. He was taken from the grounds in an auto and physicians accompanied him and dressed his injuries. He returned to Columbus today. Following is a summary of the day's races: 2:30 Pace; Purse $300. MUSICIANS WITH CONCESSIONS WANT SALARY DUE THEM

Affidavits, threatened attachments, bills of particulars and a mortgage deed, interspersed with the caustic comments of counsel and whispered conferences among litigants formed the basis of a squabble between W. L. and L. B. Backenstoe, owners of the Mazeppa show at the county fair, and the concession band headed by Signor Vincent Alberti. In the court of Squire D. M. Jones three days ago Signor Alberti claimed a judgment against the Backenstoes in the sum of $284.05 for work and labor. Friday morning when the case was called the band men, ten in number, were present with their counsel, H. C. Ashcraft, and the defendants appeared, represented by B. G. Smythe. The counsel for the plaintiff assured the court that he was ready for hearing, whereupon the defense moved a continuance on the ground of the absence of a material witness, a former secretary-treasurer of the show, now in Chicago. To this the plaintiff objected violently and a lively legal tilt was staged by the attorneys. After consideration the court granted a continuance of thirty days, upon which the plaintiffs set on foot a foot movement to attach the goods of the show. Anticipating such action, the Backenstoes had made a trip to the office of County Recorder Farmer, and when Constable Robert Forgyers of Squire Jones' court examined the records he discovered that early Friday morning a mortgage deed for the sum of $1,500, covering the elephant, "Big Lil," the horse "Mazeppa," the tent, seats, panel front and all the accessories of the Mazeppa show, in favor of John H. Geisler of Chicago, had been filed. While the filing of the mortgage deed does not vitiate an attachment proceeding, it rather slowed the legal operations and belauded the whole affair. The Wants will sell your house.

There Was a Man In Our Town

and he was Wondrous Wise—
You couldn't fool Him, Oh No!
He had drank coffee for years. Coffee didn't hurt him.
But The Bump Came

Many a man is pretty sure that while coffee may hurt others it don't hurt him—till the bump comes.

But when headache, frazzled nerves, an irritable heart, indigestion and sleeplessness begin to "get him," he's apt to look around for a reason.

The reason is plain when a change is made from coffee to

POSTUM

This pleasant table drink much resembles real Java coffee in flavour, but is free from "caffeine" (the drug in coffee) or any other harmful substance.

Postum, made from choice Northern wheat and the juice of Southern sugar cane, has put many former coffee drinkers on the Road to Wellville.

COMES A TIME
When Coffee Shows What It Has Been Doing.
"Of late years coffee has disagreed with me," writes a friend from Home, N. Y.
"Its lightest punishment being to make me 'dogy' and dizzy, and it seemed to thicken up my blood."
"The heaviest was when it upset my stomach completely, destroying my appetite and making me nervous and irritable, and sent me to my bed. After one of these attacks, in which I nearly lost my life, I concluded to quit the coffee and try Postum."
"It went right to the spot: I found it not only a most palatable and refreshing beverage, but a food as well."
"All my ailments, the 'doginess' and dizziness, the unsatisfactory condition of my blood, my nervousness and irritability disappeared in short order and my sore, afflicted stomach began quickly to recover. I began to rebuild and have steadily continued until now. Have a good appetite and am rejoicing in sound health which I owe to the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Daddy's Bedtime Story
The Clever Fire Horse That Rings The Bedtime Bell

JACK and Evelyn sighed as Dobbin trotted into the stable. They had been out for a ride behind the old horse that evening, and they were sorry their outing was over.

"Dobbin is ready to go to bed now," said daddy. "Old Dobbin doesn't have to have a story to put him to sleep at night."

"Dobbin would rather have some oats," replied Jack.

"There are some horses that like a bit of fun better than extra oats," said daddy. "I happen to have heard of just such a horse, and so I'll tell you about him now."

"His name is Abbott, and he is the oldest horse in the New York fire department."

"Abbott belongs to engine company No. 25, and his driver, who has been a fireman for thirty-two years and ought to know something about bright horses, says Abbott is the smartest horse he has ever known."

"Abbott and his driver are great chums. There used to be a bell in the engine house which was rung three times a day to let the people of the neighborhood know the time. For years Abbott rang this bell, and he was quite put out when the head of the city's fire department had the bell taken out of the engine house because its swinging was thought to jar the building too much."

"The people in the neighborhood depended so much on their old bell to know the time to get up and go to bed that an iron tower is being built in the yard so that the bell may soon again be rung. But in the meantime Abbott is displeased. Abbott liked to ring the bell."

"For a long time the horse has been allowed to roam around the engine house just as he likes, because, no matter how his stall was tied and no matter what lock they put on it, he could open it."

"Whenever the bell was to be rung Abbott was on the spot not a minute late and eager to grasp the long rope in his teeth and set the bell to swinging. For years the little folks of the neighborhood have got up and gone to bed by Abbott's bell. It isn't much wonder that he should sulk when it rang no more."

"The horse tenses the firemen when he has nothing else to do. He can turn off the water cock when they are cleaning off the wheels of the engine or the track with the hose or turn it on when they have turned it off. He pokes his head over the table when they are playing games in the yard."

"But soon the bell will again be ready to ring, and Abbott will be happy and have not so much time to play jokes on his friends."

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore
Gray and Faded Hair to Its Natural Color.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dangerous germs which rob the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty and makes it grow.

Get a 50-cent bottle from your druggist today. He will give your money back if you are not satisfied after a fair trial.

PICKPOCKETS WERE BUSY

There were several complaints of pocket picking at the fair grounds, Thursday, but as usual in such cases most of the victims keep their trouble to themselves as it is almost impossible to locate the pickpocket after he has made his "touch" and gotten away with it. V. C. Wright of Utica lost a roll of $70 from his hip pocket Thursday afternoon when one of the light fingered gentry got busy at the hangar in the aviation field, J. M.

Boali of North avenue this city, was also a victim, having $10 taken. A prominent county official is said to have fallen a victim for $60 but he would not admit it, although a fellow official stated that it was a fact.
Last night Mrs. Christina Welsh while on her way home had a pocket-book snatched from her hand by a rather tall man who immediately took to his heels. Mrs. Welsh is ten dollars loser.

MR. F. L. BEGGS

HONORED BY SUPREME COUNCIL OF SCOTTISH RITE MASONS.

Elected a Thirty-Third Degree Mason
at Session Held in Boston, Mass.

After a lapse of a number of years, a Newark man is to be the recipient of that much coveted distinction among Masons, the thirty-third degree. Yesterday afternoon Frank L. Beggs was notified by telegram that the Supreme Council, Thirty-Third Degree, Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, Northern Masonic jurisdiction, now in session in Boston, had conferred upon him the honor of election to the thirty-third degree.

F. L. BEGGS.

ty-third degree. The ceremony attendant upon the election will occur at the next meeting of the electing body.

Mr. Beggs' election to the body marks the re-entry of Newark into the cities having thirty-third degree Masons after a number of years in which no Mason of that rank has been a resident of this city. At one time some years ago five Newark men were holders of the distinction. They were D. C. Winegarner W. M. Cunningham L. P. Schaus and S. Stacker Williams of the Northern jurisdiction and Reverend F. O. Nash of the Southern jurisdiction. This remarkable record ended with the removal to other cities of Mr. Schaus and Reverend Nash and the deaths of Mr. Williams, Mr. Winegarner and Mr. Cunningham.

The membership in the thirty-third degree, which is comparatively small, is based upon a ratio derived from the number of thirty-second degree Masons in the coastlines of a jurisdiction, and election by the Supreme council is dependant upon the recommendation of the consistory entitled to further representation in the thirty-third degree.
The election of Mr. Beggs was prefaced by the recommendation of Scoto Consistory, the Scottish Rite body, of Columbus.
The election of officers at the present meeting of the Supreme council in Boston, resulted in the re-election of Barton Smith of Toledo as Sovereign Grand Master.

FOURTEEN KILLED IN BIG WRECK

Naugatuck, Conn., Oct. 4.—Fourteen persons are known to have been killed and more than 50 were injured when the second section of the Boston and New York Express jumped the tracks at Naugatuck Junction, when taking the crossover from one of the four tracks to another shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The engine exploded practically at the same moment that it left the rails, according to eyewitnesses. The report was heard for several miles.

According to witnesses the train was running 50 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

J. Leonard Snelgel, a New York merchant, and a friend were in an automobile at the Naugatuck station when the wreck occurred and were thrown from the machine by the concussion of the explosion.
They were the first persons to reach the overturned train and saw three

Shoulder Perfection Expressed In Our Coats

Coats made here always have a smooth, graceful appearance about the shoulders, rarely, if ever seen in ready-made clothing. This effect is not the result of artificial pads, but a proper distribution of cloth over the shoulder blades, and the correct manipulation of the canvas. This is the coat makers' art, and a knowledge of every shoulder and its irregularities must be known before a tailor can properly work the cloth to fit this most important part of the form.

No Two Forms Alike; Every Shoulder Needs a Different Formation.

With our method of measuring, we supply the necessary information to the tailor making the coat.

Our cutters are expert and trained in this branch of the work; every order when placed on the tailor's table has with it a special information sheet, explaining the style, shape and shoulder formation best suited to fit the person measured.

This assures our customers of perfect fitting shoulders that retain the shape as long as the coat wears.

young girls, pupils of the Boston Conservatory of Music, burn to death after they had aided in dragging the fourth of the quartet from a window.

"We heard a man crying for aid," Spiegel said, "and, running in his direction, found him trying to boost a young woman through a window. We pulled her through, and she fell unconscious before us. He called to us that there were three other girls there. We shouted that we could catch them as he dropped each one. We then saw him dive down headforemost into the smoke and fire. Then we heard him cry out, and his face appeared above us, grimed with smoke and with his hair all singed.

"My God," he screamed, "they are fastened down there and are burning, and I cannot get them out. A moment later he fell unconscious on top of us. Then from another place we saw the girls burning to death. We saw a band of Italian workmen bring at least 20 persons out of the cars.

"The passengers that we questioned denounced the railroad for using wooden cars. They all declared that had the train been made of steel cars the fire would have been checked and the passengers pinned down by the wreckage rescued."

The wreck was on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Captain Charles Swank and Patrolman Corder swooped down on the Klondike saloon in South Fourth street at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning and arrested four persons, charged with gambling. Among the men arrested was the proprietor, Uley Craig, charged with running a gambling place. Pleas of not guilty to the charge were entered in police court Friday morning and the case was continued until Saturday when the officers who made the arrests will be called as witnesses in the case.

CLARK'S FRIENDS WERE TOO NOISY

Otherwise Speaker Might Have Been Nominated.

INCIDENT OF THE CONVENTION.

Valuable Time Was Lost in an Effort to Create a Stampede—Monorail Car to Run Between the Office Building and the Senate—Republicans Eager to Retain Control of the Senate.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Oct. 4.—[Special.]—There are friends of Champ Clark who believe he would have been the Democratic nominee for president of the United States had it not been for the noise and violence of his friends.

When Charles F. Murphy cast the minority votes of New York for Clark at Baltimore the speaker's friends made such a demonstration as frequently happens in national conventions. They paved the air, waved flags, tore up state standards, marched about the hall, brought in huge banners—in fact, they did everything that is supposed to start a stampede for a popular candidate. But stampedes are not made by any such forced and prepared methods. It was plain to be seen that two or three minutes would have exhausted the real applause. But the wild element, the "Johnny boys rush brigade," the mobs in the galleries and surrounding the delegates, and many of the delegates themselves, kept it up, as though it was helping Clark.

What It Really Did.

That demonstration was prolonged to such an extent that it gave the friends of William J. Bryan time to run over to the hotel, wake him up, tell him all about it while he was dressing and get him into the convention hall before another ballot was taken.

Then history was made. There in the dead of night Bryan forced the convention to hear him when he had his name called to vote. He put "the Indian sign" on Champ Clark, declaring that he would support no man nominated with the help of New York and broke his instructions to vote for Clark. Others followed him, and Clark's chances began to fade.

What Would Have Happened.

Had the demonstration lasted but a few minutes and the balloting proceeded it is possible that a legitimate stampede might have been started for Clark. Some of the Underwood states might have broken. The Harmon votes in Ohio might have gone to Clark, but what is most important, the western men would not have become scared and uneasy over Bryan's position, and Clark might have been nominated before Bryan could have started his position.

On One Rail.

Senators who have been riding from the office building to the senate will this winter ride in a monorail car instead of the electric automobiles which have been running through the tunnel. Elliott Woods, the superintendent of the capitol, has been installing the new process. It will be balanced by an overhead connection which will furnish the electric power. It is the intention to some time run a tramway all around the tunnel system of the capitol.

The Indian Knew.

"The Indian knew more about living outdoors than any other human being," remarked Wallace C. Spink of the senate library. "I have recently returned from one of my camping trips and used the Indian tepee tent. It is better ventilated, resists the wind better and proves a good shelter. I find it better than any other."

"I did a little exploring for the Rhode Island historical society this summer," continued Mr. Spink, "and found arrowheads, tomahawks, axes and a pot of clay paint which had been buried for 200 years. We found we could make use of the paint to decorate ourselves like Narragansetts, Connecticut and other tribes which once inhabited that region."

Trying to Save the Senate.

There is a belief in several political heads that the Republicans will put forth their great effort in trying to retain control of the senate, no matter what happens in other directions, this control to include regulars, insurgents, progressives, bull moose or anything that will vote with the Republicans on most questions, more particularly the tariff after the 4th of March next.

On this account special efforts have been put forth in Maine to elect a Republican in place of a Democrat. It will be repeated in West Virginia. In New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and other states where there is the possibility of electing a Democratic legislature special efforts are to be made to save enough members to hold the senate seat. The senate is well worth having, as it means a great deal in the way of control and patronage.

Accused of Rainbow Chasing.

"I hear that the Democratic managers in New York are trying to carry Pennsylvania," remarked a Democrat from the south who did not conceal his feeling on the subject. "Talk about rainbow chasing," he added, "Why, that beats anything ever attempted. We all know that, whatever else happens, those Pennsylvania protectionists will win."

FIRST THINGS

The first bank in England was established by Francis Child, a London goldsmith, who died 169 years ago today. It is pioneer financial institution was opened in 1662, and a number of rival goldsmiths soon opened similar concerns. The Mint in the Tower of London had been the depository for the cash of merchants until Charles I. seized the money as a loan. Then the traders began to deposit their cash with the goldsmiths in Lombard street. The first bank in the world was established in Italy in 1589 by the Lombard Jews. The oldest existing bank is the Bank of Barcelona, Spain, founded in 1401. The Bank of England was started in 1694.

No Indigestion, Gas, Heartburn or Dyspepsia Five Minutes After Taking "Pape's Diapiesin."

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapiesin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping.

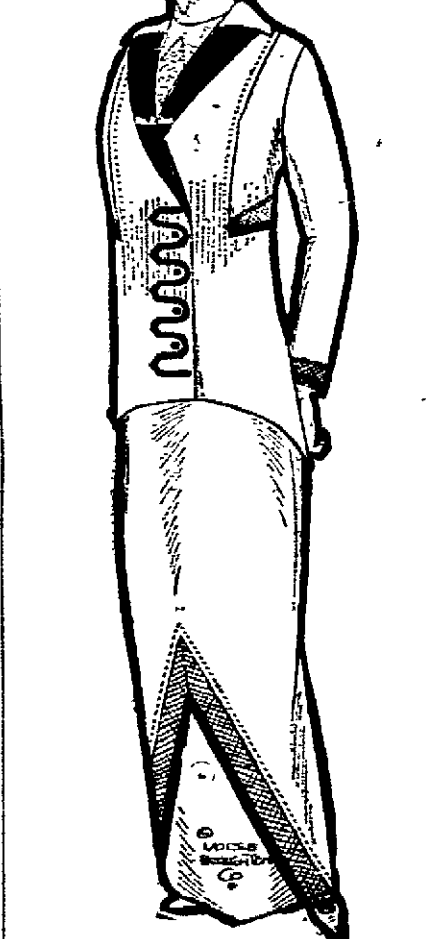

This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia or any other stomach disorder.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year, the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor means something.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

COL. ROOSEVELT BEFORE SENATE INVESTIGATORS

Washington, Oct. 4.—"I asked no man to contribute to the campaign fund when I was elected president of the United States and I wish to reiterate that Mr. Bliss and Mr. Cortelyou both assured me that no promises had been made as a return for any contribution. Neither they nor any one else having authority, asked me to act or to refrain from acting in any matter while I was president because any contribution had been made or withheld. Gentlemen, could I put it more sweepingly?"

In these words, Col. Theodore Roosevelt summarized his testimony today at the close of the first part of his hearing before the Clapp committee of the senate investigating campaign funds.

Col. Roosevelt when he took the stand was asked what he knew about Archibald. He asked permission to include in his answer the letter he sent to Chairman Clapp denying that he knew of any Standard Oil contribution in 1904. He said he had written so many letters since he was elected governor of New York 14 years ago that it was impossible for him to keep the text of them in his mind. "There is no testimony against me except in the form of hearsay evidence," he said. "Hearsay statements of men who are dead."

Tacoma Figures of Speech.
A Tacoma lawyer, arguing a divorce case recently, closed his address to the jury as follows: "My client is a beautiful woman, so beautiful that the sun seems to stand still while the stars gaze at her. Truthful! Falsity lies from her even as the jack rabbit flits from the greyhound. Sweet! Gentlemen, honey would freeze in her mouth. Tender and slender! My client could bathe in a fountain pen."—National Corporation Reporter.

Sunday Trading Discouraged.
For selling an egg and an orange to a child on a recent Sunday a dealer was fined 15. and 98. cents, or seven days in prison, at Borwick, Scotland. The chief constable said Sunday trading was being put down in the town, and there had been complaints about the accused.

Consideration.
"If I didn't have such a large family, I could save a little money." "Don't be too sure of it. If you didn't have a large family you might have an auto."—Houston Post.

Better Things in Sight

Frances hurried to the telephone. "Hello," she said, brightly. But in a minute her voice broke. "No, you have the wrong number."

She put her pretty head on the telephone table and began to cry. "Oh, dear, oh dear! It's always the wrong number. No one ever wants me. Oh, dear, I'm so miserable!"

When she had first looked cheerful, ly at the new white card by the telephone she did not know that the number would be of no consequence to a solitary soul in Chicago. Occasionally George, her young husband, would call her up from his office, but usually all day long Frances stayed in the apartment with a silent telephone. If it did ring it was somebody who had the wrong number.

So Frances cried. She had cried because she was lonesome, for she knew no one in the big city. She cried because she was tired, homesick and miserable and because her sobs were company for her in a sad sort of way, a bit consoling.

The first few weeks she had not cried. "Be busy and you will be happy," she would say. The tiny flat glistened with cleanliness.

After a while this did not satisfy her. She had reduced her housework and marketing to a system and it took very little time to keep the flat in order. George had seen her dresses again and again and good dinners were a matter of course. At first Frances tried extra housework as an antidote for loneliness, but after her violent scrubbing had taken the shine off the kitchen ware, after she had broken some vases by needless dusting and spilled furniture polish on the rug she stopped. Her trousseau was still new and did not require the attention of sewing or shopping. On the few occasions she had left her neighborhood she had become lost. She had always lived in a small town and the noise of the city streets and the crowds in the stores confused her.

All her experiments had failed. So Frances cried. In the midst of her grief the door bell rang.

"A peddler," Frances said, dolefully. She wiped her eyes and opened the door. It was not a peddler, but a sweet young woman. She carried some letters.

"I am Mrs. Allen from across the hall," she said, timidly. "I brought up your mail."

Frances took the letters mechanically. Then she noticed that the powder was suspiciously thick around the eyes and nose of her visitor. Clearly Mrs. Allen had been crying, too. Impulsively Frances put out her hand. "I wish you would come in," she said.

The two tear-stained young women sat down in the living room. "It was kind of you to bring the letters," Frances began.

"Oh, it's nothing," said Mrs. Allen. A pause. "I couldn't help seeing that one letter was addressed to Mrs. Frances Stevens West. I used to hear my cousin Eula Thomas talk of a Frances Stevens, of Plainfield."

"Oh," cried Frances. "That's I. Is Eula your cousin? She is my best friend."

"I heard so much about you," declared Mrs. Allen. "I didn't know you lived in Chicago."

"I haven't very long," said Frances. "Neither have I," said Mrs. Allen. "I don't know many people here."

"I don't know any," Frances replied. "Neither do I," said Mrs. Allen. "Do you enjoy the city?" Frances asked.

"Well," replied Mrs. Allen, "it has so many advantages. There are so many things to do and see. The theaters and concerts are fine. One does not waste time over social trivialities."

"Yes," said Frances. "And the modern conveniences simplify housekeeping so that there is time for the advantages. I—I like it."

"I don't," declared Mrs. Allen with decision.

"Neither do I," said Frances, with sudden decision.

"You see," said Mrs. Allen, growing confidential. "I came from a small town where I knew everybody. I'm not used to the city and I don't know my way about. There is so little to do when my husband is away. Why, sometimes I have asked Central to ring my telephone to know if it's in order."

"That's how it is with me," said Frances. "Don't you want to see my apartment?"

After the tour of inspection, in which Mrs. Allen had been properly enthusiastic, Frances said timidly: "I would be so glad if you would stay to tea."

"I'd love to," she answered, "if you will let me bring over my fresh cake."

The tea party progressed famously. The brides forgot their tears and laid plans for shopping and matinees and promised to introduce their husbands. Mrs. Allen gave Frances the cake that was left and was presented in turn with a painful new roll. The two parted affectionately.

"I am so glad you came over," said Frances. "This is the first time I have had company."

"It is the first time I have been to a party," said Mrs. Allen.

"Neither have we," said the brides. And from that time on life in the great city grew pleasant. The loneliness had been dispelled.

DON'T WAIT TO BE ATTACKED

If There Is Rheumatism In Your Blood Drive It Out Before It Disables You.

"Last winter was the first time in twenty years that I did not have an attack of rheumatism," said a man who was recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for this painful disease.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People do the only thing that will permanently cure rheumatism. They build up the greatly thinned blood and purify and cleanse it of every trace of the rheumatic poison. They are invaluable both during an attack of the disease and during the intervals between attacks. If you have already passed through one or more stages of the disease it is advisable not to wait for an attack before using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills but to start taking them now and prevent a return of the trouble. Don't be misled until you have thoroughly cleansed your blood, for until this is done you will never be free from rheumatism.

Mr. Charles Day, of Tidoute, Warren Co., Pa., says: "I was taken very suddenly with rheumatism which I first noticed as a pain in my right knee. The pain went down to my ankle and sometimes would be in both knees, causing them to swell, and was so intense that I could not move without the greatest agony. My hands were drawn up so that they were useless and it seemed as though every joint in my body was affected. I was in bed nearly all winter and was so helpless that I had to be waited on."

"For two months I was under a doctor's care without his medicine doing me any good. I then tried liniments and various medicines but received no help. After four months of suffering I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and felt much better before I had taken many boxes. I then decided to give them a thorough trial and was soon able to walk around and do my work. I feel that it is my duty to tell others what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me and hope it may benefit others."

Start today to cure yourself with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are for sale by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, upon receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. AMUSEMENTS

LOUISIANA LOU WILL PACK THE AUDITORIUM TONIGHT.

"Louisiana Lou" coming to the Auditorium tonight caught Chicago with the brightness of its book, the easy rhythm of its music, the cleverness of its people, and a general attractiveness of ensemble that is irresistible. It proved one of the biggest drawing cards of the LaSalle theatre season, and it was truly welcome in view of the late general theatrical stagnation. It fairly "shoots up the town" with its exuberant vitality. It overflows with healthy humor, fun and laughter. It is youth and optimism running riot on the stage. No pent-up utopia of conventionalism contracts its powers. It gives free rein to individual and collective efforts to banish dull care with sprightly limbs, flying feet, joyous young voices and glad-some comedy. No one cares much what it is all about. But its authors, the Messrs. Burkhardt, Donahey and Jerome, have provided a tangible background for their elusive love story of the New Orleans Mardi Gras. The old French quarter of the Southern city is one of the most picturesque spots in America and its quaint charm has lost nothing in its "Louisiana Lou" reproduction.

MAE LAPORTE.

Mae LaPorte and her company will close their engagement at the Auditorium theatre tomorrow with matinee and night performances. At the matinee they will present for the first time in this city, a comedy drama entitled "The Awakening of Ruth," and at the evening performance, "When Hearts are Young," will be the offering. The matinee prices will be 10 and 20 cents and the evening 10, 20 and 30 cents.

PICTURES AT THE AUDITORIUM SUNDAY.

The Auditorium will resume their most successful photo play season Sunday afternoon and continue on all nights when the theatre is not occupied by a traveling organization. The usual five reels of high class subjects will be shown at each session.

THE SMART SET.

There is much to cause and entertain in "Doctor Beans from Boston," the new "Smart Set" vehicle which with S. H. Dudley will be the bill at the Auditorium theatre on October 18. The production, which has made a decided hit all over the country, employs forty people including some of the best singers and dancers in the business.

THE BOHEMIAN GIRL COMING BACK

Elsewhere the cities have agreed that the spectacular revival of Balfe's "The Bohemian Girl," as it is now being presented by the Aborn Opera company marks the beginning of a new era in the presentations of standard operas in this country. So stupendous is this offering that company, scenery and a variety of animals, including a score of horses employed in requiring a special train for their transportation. "The Bohemian Girl" is among the early bookings here, and will be seen at the Auditorium Saturday, October 12.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

Last night's show at the Orpheum was a record breaker in every way. The little theatre was not large enough to hold the crowds and the players were all generously applauded. It is well to know that some of the acts on the present bill have just finished on the Keith's time from New York city. The little company of Esmerald and Diaz have set the crowds to guessing, also to wonder how they do it. Miss Esmerald is one of the sweetest singers the Orpheum has ever known and Mr. Diaz is a marvel with the violin. This one act alone received rounds of applause.

human. He had so many of the weaknesses and temptations we find cropping out in our own natures. He had a great battle to fight against the evils in his own life. He had inherited from his mother a shrewd and crafty nature. Rebecca was one of the most unprincipled swindlers described in scripture. It is of even greater importance that parents transmit to their children health of mind as strength of body.

If the endowment Rebecca gave her son was bad, his environment was worse. From a child she taught him to lie and cheat. We make the short-sighted policy of Esau the basis of many a moral in bartering away his birthright for a bowl of soup. But in the sight of God Jacob's sin of selfishness in swindling and taking advantage of his brother's necessity stands forth in even deeper blackness.

Many parents have started their children on the road to sin and shame by giving them a training and example in shrewd and dishonest practices. "How old are you?" was asked a little boy. "Six at school five at home and four on the train." was his reply. We need to remember Jacob's early history if we are to understand the fierceness of his later struggles.

Driven from home by the anger of a wronged brother, he set forth for the abode of his uncle. The first night on his journey he came to Bethel. Oppressed by fear, stricken by conscience, he lay down to sleep. It was here he got a vision of God and saw the angels ascending and descending. In art angels are always pictured as feminine, but in scripture, they are always masculine. moreover, they are always busy. This truth has saved me from the fear of monotony in heaven.

It was at Bethel that Jacob got his first conception of a higher life. It was here that God gave him the promise of blessing and here Jacob covenanted to serve the Lord. This Bethel too, was in the homeland. In all his later wanderings he could look back in memory to this sacred spot. It is said the soldier boys in Cuba and the Philippines during the Spanish war whenever "Home, Sweet Home" was played would sob from sheer homesickness. It is a great thing when a soul gets homesick for the sight of the heavenly home.

It might be well to stop here to ask, have you had a Bethel experience? Can you look back to some definite time when you turned away from the old life and received Christ, the Son of God, as your personal Savior and Lord? If you have ever had such an experience, though you may have wandered far away there will be something tugging at heartstrings to draw you back home to God. Many can hardly be said to have backslidden, because they have never had anything to slide from. Many church members know nothing of regeneration. They have never had a spiritual birthday.

Jacob's experience in his uncle's home was not conducive to the development of Godly character. It is the story of two shrewd business men, each endeavoring to outwit, and outdo the other. How much this resembles modern commercial life, where so often the lower traits of character are stimulated and the higher nature is neglected and starved. Jacob was making money, but at the cost of the welfare of his soul. At last the envy of his uncle turns him out of doors. We cannot recount his struggles at the ford of Jabbok or his misfortunes in the heathen country. His daughter Dinah wanted to shine in society. Like many a modern she became fascinated by pleasure and went wrong, bringing added sorrow to her aged father.

During all his wanderings there was a longing in Jacob's heart to go back to Bethel. At last this desire ripened into decision. He said: "Let us arise and go up to Bethel."

It was like the prodigal in the far country. "I will arise and go to my father." But to do this he had to come out of the heathen country. If you are to get back to Bethel, you have got to break loose from sin. To go up to Bethel you must go up. When you go from God you always go down. Another step in the decision to return was putting away the strange gods. Mammon, appetite, pleasure and self have usurped God's throne. Moreover he built an altar for prayer. Oh friend, have you too, been living in the far country feeding on the husks? Come back to God. Say with Jacob, "Let us arise and go up to Bethel."

"Some modern women seem to delight in taking Rebekah as their model. I often wonder about that, for of all the crafty and scheming women of the Scriptures she was the worst."

"One of the darkest and most damning facts of today is the fact that modern women care most for luxury and indulgence. As a result of this America is dying at the top."

"Jacob of today would be a 'cap-

"I want to be an angel—some people seem to think that all the angels will have to do will be to loaf around and twang a harp. If that is true you may make angels by putting harps in the hands of the loafers in your court house park."

"Art makes angels always feminine and the Scriptures make them always masculine, but I tell you, to become an angel you will have to be active and energetic."

"It's a great thing to have what the Germans would call, 'a heimweh fur Himmel.'"

"So many people talk about 'backsliding.' A whole lot of people can't backslide, because they have nothing to slide from, all the good in them seems to have 'died abornin'."

"The people of Newark must fall and suffer and lose before they will realize the insufficiency of the things that the world offers."

LICKING COUNTY FAIR'S SUCCESS DUE TO WORK

ADVERTISING AND FULFILLMENT OF PROMISES BRING BIG RESULTS.

Everybody Takes Hat Off to Mr. Alward, Chairman of the Advertising Committee.

The "headline" features of the Licking county fair—the daily airship flights, the big industrial parade, the visit of Congressman Cox and Mr. Eagon, the motorcycle races, the gaily decorated city, the downtown band concerts—are due to the Newark business men who contributed freely of both their time and their money.

The business men promptly responded to the call from the Agricultural society and through their assistance, the Fair this week has been made a pronounced success. Everything that was advertised has taken place. The parade was bigger and better than anybody expected and the flights of the airship, including the trip over the central part of the city Friday, were all that could be desired. While a few were disappointed because Freeman did not fly until 3:30 Thursday on account of the wind, he made up for the delay by giving four beautiful flights.

Never has the Fair been so well advertised. The advertising committee expended nearly $1200 given by the business men of Newark in posters, pennants, newspaper advertising, banners, prizes and music. The splendid crowds that have attended the Fair prove that it pays to advertise and the committeemen are happy in knowing that everything they promised has been carried out.

Great credit is due to the finance, aviation executive and advertising committees appointed by the business men of Newark. All join in saying that the "red ribbon" belongs to Mr. W. F. Alward, chairman of the advertising committee, who has put a great deal of "ginger" into the campaign. Mr. Alward is one of Newark's most successful young business men. He is general manager of the Stewart Bros. and Alward company's store in the Arcade and Union block.

Col. W. C. Wells, secretary of the Board of Trade, as chairman of the finance committee, likewise merits a "first premium" tag. In fact the chairmen of all of the committees and the members of the committees all did very effective work.

Following are the committees appointed by the business men who organized by making Ben B. Jones, chairman, and W. H. Mazey, secretary. Finance—W. C. Wells (chairman), W. C. Kuster, Emmet McDaniel (chairman), John M. Ankole, T. F. Coulter, G. E. Besanceny.
